Uniform Policy is back in full effect

As of September 8th, 2009, our full uniform policy was back in effect. All students must be in a proper karate uniform for karate classes, or an official RGDA uniform for Jiu-Jitsu. No gi Jiu-Jitsu classes require an official RGDA rashguard.

With the t-shirt in effect over the past summer, you may have also discovered that your old uniform no longer fits you.

The Pro Shop is currently offering 15% off all regular priced uniforms until October 30th, so if you do not have a uniform, or you just want an extra uniform to lighten your laundry load, now is the time to visit the Pro Shop.

IS IT TIME TO REPLACE YOUR SPARRING EQUIPMENT?

Safety is always a priority at Robinson’s Karate Schools. Now that everyone is settling in to the “Back to School” season, it is time to start taking stock of your sparring equipment and ensuring that it still fits properly. Equipment that is too small, can result in injury for you or your partner. Take a moment to make sure that each piece of your sparring equipment fits, and that your fingers or toes are not hanging out the end. If you find that one or more of your pieces is too small, you can purchase that piece individually at the Pro Shop. You can visit our website at www.teamrks.com, and download a special coupon to use towards replacing your sparring equipment. And while you are checking the size of your equipment, do not forget to check for damaged equipment as well.

Remember, it is important that your toes do not hang out past the end of your boot. Your feet should fit safely inside the hollow section of the foot pad.
